About “An Evening In The Garden”

What is The Northern Virginia Conservation Trust (NVCT)?

We are your local, nonprofit land trust saving nearby nature by forever preserving and caring for the natural areas that define our Northern Virginia communities. From forests and streams to battlefields and cultural sites, our region’s lands and waters are more precious than ever before in the face of a changing climate and growing pressure to develop. Founded in 1994, we have restored and protected more than 7,000 acres of clean water sources, key wildlife habitat, and historic places in one of the fastest growing regions in the country. We’ve done this by working collaboratively with local governments, private landowners and other valued partners to improve the quality of life for all residents.

Who attends our annual event?

Our audience usually includes a complete cross-section of Northern Virginia professionals. Elected officials, jurisdiction partners, conservation leaders, advocates, and the citizens living and making a difference in our Northern Virginia communities each day.

Why sponsor “An Evening in the Garden”?

At this event, businesses support the conservation of our local land and water resources in Northern Virginia. In doing so, they place their identity, products, and services directly in front of significant, involved, and committed professionals with shared values. Sponsors of NVCT’s signature event bolster and secure the Trust’s commitment to protecting the communities where Northern Virginians live, work and play.

About The Atrium at Meadowlark Botanical Gardens

We couldn’t be more excited to host our event at the beautiful Atrium at Meadowlark Botanical Gardens. Featuring live plants, flowers, an indoor stream, and trees filled with twinkling lights, the Atrium is the perfect venue for a fun filled evening to celebrate the beauty of Northern Virginia.
